

Go on a holiday every year

Yes you can! Take the bus & save up to $7,500 a year!

If you live in Sydney, you most likely have two cars at home - one for you to drive to work and the other for your partner or family to use. If you do have a second car, do you really need it? Why not take the bus instead and save up to $7,500 a year! What can you do with your savings? You can go on a holiday, pay your mortgage faster, buy a new home theatre system, or have extra shopping money.

✓ Here's how you save:

Yearly vehicle operating costs per NRMA Business Motoring based on Holden Commodore Executive VYII 4 speed automatic V6 3791cc*	$9,304.50
---	------------

Less: Yearly cost of Red Weekly TravelPass adult full fare (unlimited travel by bus, train and ferries)#	$1,664.00
--	------------

Yearly savings by using public transport	$7,640.50
---	-------------------

Note: *Based on 62.03 cents per kilometer traveled; 15,000 yearly travel distance; new to 5 years old. Excludes toll and parking costs. Savings will vary depending on model and age of car owned and the cost of the TravelPass ticket required to get around.

$32.00 Red Weekly TravelPass is valid for 7 consecutive days of unlimited travel on Sydney Buses, CityRail and Sydney Ferries in the area bounded by The Spit, Gladesville, Chatswood, Croydon, Canterbury, Bardwell Park, Rockdale and all the Eastern Suburbs. It is not valid on Sydney Buses and Sydney Ferries premium services. An additional access fee is required to travel to the Airport Line stations including Green Square and Mascot. The yearly cost of the Red Weekly TravelPass was calculated based on 52 weekly tickets. October 2004. STA Marketing.